Edward C. Dunbar Esq^{re}
New York City

Dear Sir:

Your letter of yesterday has just been received. I am very sorry to see that there is so great misunderstanding on your part in relation to my official action as regards to the facts you mention. I am very sorry you have entertained for a moment ~~that~~ the idea that I have not been sincere and candid in my conversations with you on that subject.

Only the high appreciation I make of your friendship makes me willing to explain to you every thing in such way as to satisfy you that you have been mistaken in your conclusions. I will do so when I am in New York. I will leave for your city to-morrow morning, and will avail myself of the first opportunity to see you. I will stop at Señor Brizual's

I remain, Sir, your obedt servt
